Communication gap on campus

By NELLIE ALLEN
Editor

When President Johnson asked in his State of the Union message in January, "Why, why, why, why, the parliaments??" little did he know that within three months the same question would be pondered by Ladles. As our campus bowed from within and without, questions came from the minds of many.

On many faces you could read the inevitable "why??" It has always been my feeling that students have a right and perhaps even a duty to raise questions about anything relating to their education with which they are classified.

Administration, likewise, have an obligation to respond to a respectful and credit way to these queries.

But I would like to advance some unanswered questions pertinent to our situation here at Lane. I do not have any one answer for the questions, but I feel that their importance cannot be overlooked.

1. What influence or forces caused the uprising?
2. In retrospect, "What could have been done to prevent the situation??"
3. What is your role, as a student or as an administrator, in facing up to the problems of the conflict??

If I were to attempt to candidly look at our particular campus, there are some observations that must be made. I don't think there can be a set pattern or role for facing up to crisis and conflict on the college campus, but I do think it is essential that we not ignore the issues.

"How does the President feel about the happening??"

排气 questions — and then

of an offhand:"We will not boycott again??" and internal nature ("How does Lane's large stand up as the future

inquiries which tend to refuse the Dragon's campus.

Questions come from out-der, businessmen, parents, dropouts, students — the whole
cut of the concerned.

Some of these queries have been answered.

"Grievances have been numbered. Students claim over to a certain student council made up of two representatives from each and every class, and by the secret ballot," stated President.

One of the grievances stated:

"One of the grievances was the lack of cooperation and the full cooperation, which seems efficient and effective."

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is a national Greek-letter society, organized at Howard University in Washington, D. C., in January, 1908. In a period of fifty years Alpha Kappa Alpha grew from one undergraduate group of nine members, to a national organization with an active membership of more than ten thousand women. The undergraduate chapters now draw members from more than 130 accredited colleges, and graduate members are organized into 169 chapters located in thirty-six of the fifty states, Liberia, West Africa and The Bahamas.

The present structure, character and personality of Alpha Kappa Alpha have been determined not only by the natural growth of the organization itself but by the pressures of changing conditions in the society in which she exists. As these two factors have changed, her membership standards—high scholarship, leadership, service, exemplary character—her program goals have been continually and progressively reinterpreted, so that the personal benefits which members derive from their affiliation are balanced and counter-balanced against the values deriving from the organization to the community of which it is a part.
DELTA SIGMA THETA

Delta Sigma Theta is a public service sorority having over 375 chapters located in 39 states, including Alaska and the Republics of Haiti and Liberia with more than 45,000 members.

Downey Martin, and Calena Moclure. Since its founding, more than 120 undergraduate and graduate chapters have been established throughout the country.

The purpose of their sorority for women is expressed in its slogan “Greater Service, Greater Progress.” Activities are encouraged that will further in every way possible the advantages of its members intellectually, morally, and socially.

Since 1906, Alpha Phi Alpha has stood dedicated to the principles on which this nation was founded and everywhere Alpha men have many victories of benefit to the country, but its most important service has been in the development of the scholars and creative leaders who will assist our country in meeting the challenges of the future.

Lee, were outstanding in the early development of the fraternity.

The fundamental purpose of Kappa Alpha Psi is achievement. Kappa Alpha Psi strives to obtain for all its members all of the benefits which occur from membership in a modern college brotherhood.
PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY

The idea of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was conceived on Beale Street in Memphis, Tennessee, in the summer of 1910, by the late A. Langston Taylor. The tiny acorn from which the giant oak of Phi Beta Sigma has grown was planted on Friday, January 9, 1914, at Howard University in Washington, D.C. by the late A. Langston Taylor, Leonard F. Moore and Charles L. Brown along with nine others. The ideals are Brotherhood, Service, and Scholarship. Three National Programs are: Bigger and Better Business, Education and Social Actions. THE ROAD NOT TAKEN
Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;
Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same.
And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day:
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.
I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Sports

THE SOUL OF TIME

Athletics present us with some of our most memorable events. The elements of surprise and of heartbreak are always present when sports are in full focus and produces many times to remember. No sports team depicted this more than our football team.

Remember the time we lost our first home game in football? Sad faces were prevalent among the crowds at the stadium and back on campus. But they made-up for that loss, didn't they, by winning almost every other game played, even with the Number One team in the league? Remember that game? Both teams were out for blood, but it was impossible to beat Lane College in football that day as it was on many occasions. Therefore it can be assured that the 1968-69 Lane College Dragons left us with some unforgettable memories.
The Mighty Dragons

Captain

Daniel 'Wolf' Cunegein
For many years the Dragons have been known for the type of basketball they play. The memory is greatly expanded through events occurring in these games. But this season also presented several important memory factors to add to the memories of the Lanites.

Remember when Daniel Cuneo asked one of the opposing team members to give him the ball and he did? Danny made two points. Aw, yes, that was a time and a game to think about, to put away in your storage of memories. We have never had a more hard-earned victory and we showed our appreciation of the basketball team through cheers and yells from a happy crowd.

Although time is fleeting, memories are everlasting. We are sure that there are many memories held by Lanites now, produced from the 1968-69 basketball season, which shall never be forgotten.
