JUNIOR CLASS

VIRGO, THE VIRGIN

By the time a Freshman has become a Junior, he has put etheralities aside; now is the time to become earthy and practical. Juniors are natives of the sign Virgo and therefore exhibit this sign's characteristics. Thought has replaced their spontaneity. Now upon them is the consciousness that each new day draws them closer to their destination point and that the things they do while in their present status are meaningful.

And so the Juniors go industriously about their tasks. Those who are truly aware set about systematically at work—checking "need sheets"; spending endless hours on term papers and daily assignments; meeting various deadlines; scuffling through spring registration. Much of a Junior's time is spent in anticipation—grades; coming events; the end of this school year and the beginning of yet another.

But somehow we find time for fun. The chilly nights at Rothrock Stadium will long be remembered, as will the skill of our basketball team as it dribbled its way to victory against lesser opponents. Somehow we manage to find the time for a game of chess, "Ker-Plunk", or cards; a night of dancing to the soulful sound of a "live" band; time to go bowling or to a skating party; time for a leisurely stroll.

We sang and laughed together and in time of great joy or tragedy, we cried together.

Because of the avenues we chose to travel, the Juniors had to pause and reflect; pause and take inventory of their values and of life itself. Many Juniors have found themselves asking, "Is this really what I want?" In order to answer that question the mind must be clear of all that is unnecessary; one must use logic and methodical reasoning. At year's end, those Juniors who had made use of their intellectual faculties found that they had traveled it well.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

ARES: THE RAM

Having come to realize their purposes in life, the sophomores set about to find the avenue which will lead them most quickly to their individual goals. The travelers on the Arian Avenue are characterized by strength, vitality and leadership ability. Sophomores possess these qualities in abundance.

In a manner not unlike that of the "Ram", members of this class forged ahead against obstacles. They sought positions of responsibility—in the Student Government Association, academic and social organizations—and functioned with efficiency, bringing in fresh ideas, replacing the outmoded with the current.

Wherever there was action Sophomores were always to be found. Perhaps it was during Homecoming Week and the Greek Probation Period that other Lanites began to take note of this class. When school spirit began to ebb, and routine became so "hum-drum" as to seem unbearable; when the academic work load became so heavy and life seemed to be nothing more than a frayed nerve, Sophomore innovativeness met the challenge. They had the initiative to try the "impossible" and often astounded many with their boldness. They persevered when the desired goal was not readily obtainable, thereby surmounting the accomplishments of those of lesser faith.

Sophomores became "involved" at a time when apathy was the current trend. Fortunately, they realized that one's life, social or otherwise, can only be what one is willing to make of it. Sophomores had the intuitive knowledge, that determination, enthusiasm and gusto will help end the day with a sense of accomplishment, and that the more deserved the accomplishment, the longer it would be cherished.

Aggressiveness tempered with reason was the key to the viability of the Sophomore Class.

FRESHMAN CLASS

PIRCE: THE FISH

To find a frustrated freshman is not unusual. The "fish," which we have chosen to represent the freshman are pictured swimming both upstream and downstream. The freshman finds himself in a similar predicament: making very little progress because of a lack of inner unity and direction. Desperately trying to swim along in the mainstream of collegiate life, some members of the class are lost in a whirlpool.

Those who survive find that beyond the surface lie still more hardships; yet, these hardships are accompanied by joys and learning experiences (both academic and non-academic) that make the transition period worthwhile.

The freshmen, in their own unorthodox way, have begun writing their pages which will be added to the annals of Lane College history. "The moving hand, having writ moves on." So it is with this class. With many roads to travel and many rivers to cross, they have not the time to marvel at yesterday's accomplishments; no time to shed tears over what was left undone. For these young people, time exists only in the future. Each day is merely a prelude to what is to come.

The Freshman Class, rather than to become complacent on the Avenue of Piscean Attitudes, decides to take another route which they hope will ultimately lead to their goal. The achievements of this class are proof that they possess the vigor and fresh ideas which are so vitally needed to keep Lane College on the road of progress.

Flowers of Darkness

from Frank Marshall Davis

Slowly the night blooms, unfurling
Flowers of darkness, covering
The tumbled sky, becoming
A bouquet of blackness
Unending
Touched with springs
Of pain and budding stars

Soft the ripe smell
Among April trees
Soft and richly rare
Yet commonplace
Portions on a cosmic scale

I turn to you (Arlene)
I see the flowering night
Cameo condemed
Into the lone black rose
Of your face

The young woman's smell
Of your peppy body
Rises to my brain as opium
Yet silence motionless
Liat with twitching fingers
Vea, even reverently
Sit !
With you and the blossoming night
For what flower, plucked,
Lingers long?
If you are a Libra native, you have been endowed with an inner beauty of nature that is readily perceivable to those who know you: and any exterior embellishments should be designed and used only to accentuate that which already exists.

You are the fashion consultant or authority of the zodiac where good taste in dress is concerned.

DAWN
by P. L. Dunbar

An angel, robed in spotless white,
Bent down and kissed the sleeping night.
Night woke to blush; the sprite was gone.
Man saw the blush and called it Dawn.
You have the ability to be a style leader on your own, new gimmicks, gawgs, and clothing designs in the world of fashion really fascinate and excite you, especially if the wearing of them would single you out as a style leader. Physically and mentally you are capable of being a leader in any field.

I think love is so beautiful.
If there wasn’t any love there would be madness.
You possess a flexibility which enables you to adapt yourself to any going thing in the world of fashion, especially if it is in keeping with your environment. Being an astute investor and shrewd trader, you manage to keep the wolf from your door and often amass a fortune.

In the smile of a child
Beauty lies.
Beauty is present as a new born baby cries.
Beauty is given by GOD from the skies.
Beware!! Scorpio; a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Created under the sign of Scorpio you regard clothing as a necessary evil in your life, an embellishment which you do not need in order to create an impression. Your highly critical eye, which is constantly focused upon yourself as well as others, will never allow you to destroy the magnetically attractive image which you naturally present.

There is beauty
In the faces of black women.

Jungle beauty
And mystery—
Dark hidden beauty
In the faces of black women,
Which only black men
See.

Roar—rr (spelled W-o-w) is the sound of Leo. Your pleasure loving, jovial, and somewhat carefree nature is usually manifested in whatever you wear. You enjoy the adoption of a new style trend, especially if it guarantees to make you the center of attraction in some particular group.

Her sweet simple nature
Her natural grace
Her richness and fullness of color,
Which add to the charm of her face.
BEHOLD THE WOMAN

The land of make-believe is gone;
The dolls with which she used to play
Are sleeping high on closet shelves
For thus was childhood laid away.
But time transforms a little girl
By adding beauty, charm and grace;
And gives to her that special role
To make the world a better place.
BEHOLD THE WOMAN

Her smiling eyes express the thanks
For this—her long awaited goal.
May hope be always in her heart
And all her happy dreams come true;
Her zeal in serving others keep
The joy of living shining through.
We pray that life will treat her well
And keep her helpful, kind and good,
That she may justly claim the right
To wear the crown of womanhood!

Internship Program

Mrs. Mary Reid Lake, Lane College, Jackson, Tennessee was one of seven participants who attended a Workshop at Atlanta University in Atlanta, Ga.—Oct. 31-Nov. 13, 1969. This project was funded by the Hill Family & Southern Education Foundations. The primary purpose was specifically improving Readers Services in Colleges & Universities.

As a follow-up from the Workshop an internship program was planned with institutions of higher education in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota area. Mrs. Lake will work in the library at the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minnesota April 16, May 1, 1970.

While there opportunities will be provided for work with and visitations to other schools—University of Minnesota Library, Science School—Hamline University of Minnesota Library, Microfilm and Instructional Media—Monastic Manuscript, Microfilm Library at St. John's Library, St. Paul's Hill Reference Library, Corporate Headquarters of 3M Company and the Library at St. Catherine.

This promises to be a challenging, rewarding and unique venture for a member of the J. R. Daniels Library staff, Lane College, Jackson, Tennessee. Personnel from developing colleges and universities can certainly benefit in such a situation where the colleges & universities possess the reputation and characteristics of workable and highly acceptable programs across the years.
The student body of Lane College had nothing to fear with such competent leaders and representation of officers for this academic year. The officers are as follows: Left to Right—Mr. Cheeky Brown: Asst. Manager; Miss Rita Coleman: Asst. Sec.; Mr. Victor Davis: Asst. Bus. Manager; Miss Beatrice Smith: Sec.; Mr. Sam Reed: Vice Pres.; Mr. Calvin Johnson: Pres.

Student Teachers Complete Assignments

One hundred and nine, Lane College Seniors recently completed student teaching assignments. Some of these have signed contracts for employment for the 1970-71 school year.

Of special significance this semester is the fact that two Lane Seniors did practice teaching in New York. The two, Mary Ann Anthony and Gloria Powers, were selected to participate in the Southern Student Teaching Program. The young ladies stayed on the Campus of Geneseo State College and did Practice Teaching in the Campus School. Each of them taught second grade. Transportation, room and board were furnished by the sponsors of the program.

The Monroe County (N.Y.) Human Relations Commission, the Geneseo Valley School Development Association and the Rochester College of Education, work cooperatively in Sponsoring the program. Member Colleges of the United Negro College Fund are invited to send participants.

Mrs. Jeanette Beasley is Director of Student Teachers.
CHRISTIAN YOUTH UNLIMITED FELLOWSHIP

The Music Unlimited Society is comprised of students interested in modern music. It is an organization that always welcomes membership and participation.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER
In the Homecoming Parade, the highlight of the festivities was the court containing Miss Homecoming and Court:
Miss Homecoming—Miss Audrea Lewis
1st Runner Up—Miss Margaret Fuller
2nd Runner Up—Miss Peggy Hall

The selection of Miss Dragonette was made completely by our hard-fighting dragon football team. After careful consultation and deserving selections, one young lady stood out among many, and so was crowned Miss Dragonette: Miss Ernestine Jackson.
