After the speakers finished, a luncheon followed. Final words were spoken, and unity filled the room. Each person looked as if he knew the true definition of "leadership."

One big happy family.

The first activity was conducted by the Human Development Center's staff. Counselor, Rompta Simms, gave instructions expressing a community building exercise designed for participants to get to know each other individually. Conferring with other groups allowed them to meet someone they had not previously known.

"Not only do we have to have good communication skills and good writing skills, but we have to have the ability to deal with people regardless whether we like them or not," Devy Love explains.

"A Job Well Done."

STUDENT LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The Student Leadership Conference focused on building leadership skills and time management. Lane College's Second Annual Student Leadership Conference was held at the Ramada Inn, sponsored by the Student Government Association. The objectives of the conference were, to create an atmosphere of community among student leaders, to help participants better understand his/her role as a student leader, to develop and enhance leadership skills among student leaders, to acquaint participants with the planning process, and to assist participants with planning and implementing programs and activities that meet the needs of the student body.

Darlene Thomas, Director of the Human Development Center, discussed communication skills. She stressed the importance of listening skills. The most important piece of information Mrs. Thomas presented was to avoid using the word "you" in conversation when using "you" it makes the listener feel as if he is being attacked. Using "I" would cause less confusion and create communication.
HOW TO SAY, "TIME OUT!"

There comes a time in every student's life when he must say, "Time out!" This is a time when academics are put on a shelf for a brief moment, but Lane College students do not forget to go back and pick up their academics. Having fun is only a part of college and these students prove all work and no play is a menace to society.

David, Rhonda, and Gentry comfortably converse at the Mardi Gras.

"Will someone please support the cheerleaders by buying a raffle ticket?"

The dunking booth is displayed by this student.

"Please don't dance on our kissing booth! It costs $2!"

"First come, first served!"
A NIGHT OF SHINING STARS

The 1988-89 school year was a time for a turnaround. The stars came to Lane College for a night to remember. Lane College proudly welcomed Tony, Toni, Tone and Shirley Murdock to our campus. Exciting is the best way to describe the performance of our guests!!! To the right we see Ms. Murdock shining brightly.

Above we see Tony, Toni, Tone and the rest of their group.

They all want to be in the picture. Poor Tony, the ladies never give up. Oh well, smile pretty for the camera everyone.

Here is Tony doing what has gained him fame, playing the guitar. The crowd loves him.
Shirley sports a hat that a fan gave her.

Although the lights were hot, the crowd was not bothered at all by the heat. The students and visitors could not get enough of these performers. Excitement was definitely in the air. Every dorm was empty. Every door was locked. To see Tone, T & T, and Shirley Murdock?

Hold on, guys, let me take this snapshot.

She's my baby doll ....

Watch your turn.

A member of Toni Tone takes a minute to pose with our editor.

Hey, little Walter ....

Kenny graciously takes time to teach Shirley the words to her song.
MOVING TO THE MUSIC

Check one, check two, check three...

Push, pull, push, pull...
Nice shine!

Is it over yet? One, Two, Three

While backstage the Yearbook representatives received the opportunity to ask Shirley Murdock for a few words of encouragement. Shirley told us that no matter how far it seems to never give up and always reach beyond what you feel you can reach. Shirley also added that you need to have faith in yourself and God.

"It's morning."
A BRAND NEW DAY.

Maverick decides to attend class.

Charity begins a new day with a positive attitude.

Math problems were not always easy, but ask Carmen, Clarita, or Richard. Learning requires teaching skills, of which were displayed by Deborah and Camilla.

Terri begins a new day with a trendy call to Indiana.

The Maintenance men are eager to work on this Spring Morning.

Coming from the Business Education room, Gantry starts his day with pep in his step.
JUST AN ORDINARY DAY

Things can be fun, even at Lane College. After classes are over, students relax. Some go to the library to study. Others "chill" in the lunchroom and dorms. Being at a school that is so laid back is not ordinary, but it is not everyday students can relax. Most of the time they are working or attending an evening class.

Thomas gets a laugh while in the line, which is moving at a slow pace.

Gerald and Debbie are in the middle of their daily activity.

Enrianey and Kevin are working together on some homework.

Vivian, Shantell, and Natalie strut their stuff.

John is exiting the twilight zone.
PUT ON A HAPPY FACE

A smile is simply a frown turned upside down. The students at Lane College have decided to put a smile on their faces. Cheerful faces are found all around campus. We smile in class, in the dorm, and in the lunchroom. Being happy in school is the best way to make the days go by faster. You can only make it through life if you have a cheerful way about yourself.

Our teachers smile because happiness makes their day go by better. A picture of a smiling face is like a ray of sunshine. Here are some happy faces from the Lane College family.

Dr. Quin and Mrs. Thomas have a lot to smile about because they love the students here at Lane. Students like Felicia, Debra and James have smiles that light up the classroom everyday. If love makes the world go round, then bright smiling faces are enough to start the engine.

These young ladies have a lot to smile about. They are done with the long drawn out registration process and now it is time to party!

Mrs. Thomas is shown with a smile that shows her sweet manner. Anyone that has had her for a class knows that she has a smile for her students everyday.

James and Mr. Moore portray the love our students feel for their teachers. With warm smiles.

Quote:
Happy faces go a long way in contributing to a positive attitude. Instead of walking around with a frown on your face, smile and see if you don’t feel the warmth of a smile being returned.
—Tia Thompson

Felicia is being herself, she knows how to smile for the camera.
That’s O.K. if you don’t feel like smiling, don’t hide!

Dr. Quin smiles pretty for the camera.
Kenny, Ollie, Lonnie and Michael along with a couple of their friends Monique and Stoney were definitely ready to rule their stuff at the Smith Hall Fashion Show. This preparation time was simplistic considering the glowing faces.

Kelly and Sheila can’t be stopped as they plan to capture the audience that awaits their arrival. Mouths definitely dropped when these young ladies hit the stage.

Bernard anxiously shares her candy with Ms. Schwenbergar.

Tarri and Michael
“No place they’d rather be than in the café waiting patiently.”

Dessa’s expression is worth one thousand candied apples.

DEVASTATING FACES IN ALL THE RIGHT PLACES

Lisa and Lonnie pose with panaz at the fashion show. Lisa’s philosophy is “I can achieve that which was thought impossible.”
TIME TO GET IT TOGETHER

TIME IS A MARVELOUS THING... Most often we waste time. Can you remember those times when we've said, "There just aren't enough hours in a day?" Well take a moment and think about this. There are 8064 hours in a year. That breaks down to 372 a month, 168 hours a week and 24 hours a day. Now if we can't do all those wonderful things in life with that amount of time, then it is not worth doing.

"If you really want it badly enough you will make time for it." This is very true. Many times we have read or heard of an elderly person getting a degree at a very taxe age. They made time for what was important to them. As students we sometimes do the things that are enjoyable and the important things that lack attention we throw in the "I didn't have enough time stack."

— Angela Boyce

You'll have a happier tomorrow if you always make time for the things that are important to you and the people that are special to you. Remember tomorrow is not promised to us, so make the most of today. Most of all, time is the key to success.

There's no time to waste.

Ruessel starts early getting things together for the weekend.

Valerie, being very careful not to make a mistake, asks Coach Daly if she's doing okay with the math.

STUDENT LIFE

There's a time for work and a time for play. Tracy is making the best of her time by concentrating during the freshman placement exam.

Bray Hall Chapel is usually used for religious gatherings, SGA meetings or social functions. But Anthony has found it to be a very quiet and peaceful place to study.

Mr. Simmons awakens John during the resume workshop. Seniors don't know ev-everything after all.

Normally we like to attend a movie, clean our cars, and do relaxing things on Saturday. Although we enjoy these things, there comes a time when we must do things to help us get ahead in life. These seniors spent their Sat. at the senior resume workshop.

DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY

Everyday Moses are not worrying about what Tyrone is talking about. They just came to the 1988 Homecoming Mardi Gras to be happy.

Russell doesn’t worry about his looks. Gerald doesn’t worry about raising his arm because he’s short.

Aretha, Kimberly, Juan, Gayle, Iris, Carol, Sharon, Valerie, Gary, Elmer, Tonya, Alica, are posing for Ebony.

Bobby is trying to tell Butch not to worry.

Angela is not worrying about the price of the tickets for the Red and Blue Ball.

Pronda is not worrying about what the crowd thinks.

Steve is chilling on the gym wall posing for G.Q. magazine.

Mokie, Komiwo, and Sherry have nothing better to do.

Mr. Thomas is shocked that the food tastes so good.

These guys are standing, wondering what they have to do next.
Kim reassures Tracy and Curtiss that they will remain friends forever and always.

The newspaper staff works very hard to meet their deadlines, letting nothing stop them.

"Glasses to glasses," and dust to dust. Lori and Keith enjoy a popcorn ball together at the March Games.

I feel the earth move! As the ödeme stop 1-2-3 all together now.

NOTHING CAN COME BETWEEN US

It takes a lot of work to make things work alike, all at the same time. After many hours of practice the cheerleaders finally made it work. All together, all at once. Are we there, yet?

Oh! Oh! Who's that guy with the oreo cookies, with the ___ on the sides and the ___ in the middle.

Tyrone assures Alice that she is his one and only.

When there is a job that needs to be done, nothing comes between this squad.

It looks as if everything has already come between Donnie and Tris.
WAY OVER YONDER

Iris tries to convince Valerie that it's Chandra over across the street, but trying to tell a woman something who has it all together is sometimes very difficult.

People can sometimes be long and hard, yet they have to be done if you're a member of the Dragon Band. Angela keeps her smile in hopes that the finish line is not far ahead.

I thought teachers at least made enough money to afford a car. Mrs. Long makes her daily trip of 20 miles one-way to Lane College.

Danell and Claude are trying to decide if they will take the long journey over to call for another mystery burger.
Getting To The Good Part

Sharing and caring, that's what brings a turnabout. We have our ups and downs, but this is the time to come together. Here we see students coming together. At Lane we try to love one another. The college experience is coming together. Participation is the key to getting ahead. We work together, play together, and we all keep our brotherly & sisterly love for each other. Good times are part of what college is about during our good times we never forget our main purpose for being here. Our students are displaying the fun and love we share at Lane.

It's not my opinion that counts it's how my professor feels when he reads it!
FOOD FOR THOUGHT

We at Lane College, believe that eating right is very important.

We eat at play, we eat at work, and then we eat again. The negotiation procedures for getting food can sometimes be tiresome. But, our smiling faces in the end makes it all worthwhile. Yes, we love to eat and we demand our food. So give us a cheer for the Mystery Meat and that green stuff (whatever it is). We love it all. Our teachers even partake of the delicious food served. Here below we see them arguing over who gets to fix their salad first.

To the right we see a group of hungry students waiting for service. The smiles on their faces show us that this food is coming soon.
TOAST AND JAM

Lanites show their Dragon Spirit at a football game.

Party over here, party over there. It's the weekend parties that are everywhere. Lanites definitely know how to have fun when the occasion arises.

Some members of the LaRe College crew show others what a good time really is.

Oh! I'm having so much fun.

Looks like Kimberly has had a little too much toasting while being fatted by members of Tony, Tobi, Tove.

The band puts together a funky beat.

Ms. Simmons is not so sure about that beat.

Here are one of the many couples that rock and don't stop till they stop.
All eyes are glued to Tonya and Valerie. These two young ladies were of great assistance during Freshman Orientation where they offered their appreciated expertise.

If Looks Could Kill...

This was the first year for a full semester class of Orientation. The beginning sessions were held in the Bray Hall Chapel. During this time, freshmen's had the opportunity to meet school officials along with many speakers. The seminars proved to be a worthwhile experience.

Levitt tries to win the album by asking the questions instead of answering the questions. Steve can't help, but look down in embarrassment for the silly joke he just told.

Levitt tries to win the album by asking the questions instead of answering the questions.

Levitt tries to win the album by asking the questions instead of answering the questions.

Levitt tries to win the album by asking the questions instead of answering the questions.

WHAT NOW?!

The look of intelligence is viewed on Rodney (Nino's) face as he attempts to answer the problem. Does he really know the answer or will he make up anything? It is always a surprise as to what Nino might say.

Bird and Stan seem uplifted by their sights at the Mardi Gras. There were so many activities to choose from that their decision was hard to make.
SOMETIMES IT SNOWS IN APRIL

Lane Students love when it snows considering that snow seldom hits the college campus, but when it does students can be found taking advantage of every snowflake. One student exclaimed after seeing the snow, "It's a miracle!"

Tony and Kelly walking in the wonderland.

Monique and Sherri just smiling in the snow.

Dwight is definitely dressed for the occasion.

Charissa, Genia, and Reigh carefully cross the wet street.
TITLE BLACKS IN COMMUNICATION DAY

Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw sings during Chapel service.

David V. Hawpe, Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal speaks during Chapel service to students about the need for black journalists.

Curtis Coghill of the Jackson Sun enjoys his lunch.

Menkin Aubespip emphasizes the need for young people to set an agenda in the newspaper.

Michael Marper, Assistant City Editor of the Jackson Sun and Curtis Coghill, Managing Editor of the Jackson Sun, confer during Chapel.

Lash Students and Jackson Sun Employees take time out for lunch.

Marvin Aubespip and David Hawpe entertain questions from students in the classroom setting.
CHRISTMAS IN THE CAF’

Each year the cafeteria sponsors a special Christmas dinner for students. This is a fun-filled occasion where students seem to be the honored participants. This Christmas was no exception as the fantastic concert choir, directed by Dr. Garcia, elegantly sung to the crowd.

"Good Lord, let us eat!"

This is only a portion of the turnout for the Christmas dinner.

Prayer comes first at every meal in Lane’s cafeteria.

Bemaie, Lori, Candice and Louis wait patiently for the gourmet meal that is about to be served.

Olbe received a plaque for his boxing expertise at the dinner.

Teachers and staff were the humble servers for the Christmas affair.

Students anxiously awaited the arrival of their dinner.

The concert choir is always ready, willing, and able.
HERITAGE BOWL

The room was silent as Mr. Pete read the question. Inquisitive panelist began to search for the correct answer, as the crowd looked on in suspense. During February, Black History Month, Scholarly Affairs sponsored The Black Heritage Bowl. This event encouraged students to answer questions pertaining to Black History. The audience came out in masses to support their favorite team.

Lane and Dale impatiently ponder before giving the name.

The judges had a difficult time figuring out who raised their hand first.

The panelist as well as the judge can not wait for the next question.

The crowd was ready to give their input.

The Bowl put the crowd's minds to work.

"My turn!" Tonya and Melanie know the answer.

"Correct. Booker T. Washington!"
"TOO CUTE"

The Lane College Reality Company sponsored a "Too Cute to be a Man, but Too Pretty to be a Woman" contest in Bray Hall. This humorous activity had male students playing the roles of women and women disguising themselves as men. Needless to say the audience was spellbound by the performances. This creative idea was a success.

Clarence or Clarice looks disgusted because there is a male shortage.

Robby is totally amazed and Tracy can't believe her eyes.

Francois and Danny were star attractions at the contest.

Steve or Stephanie?

Asin't they gorgeous? This event brought out the best of this year's Fall Fashions. Those that modeled were definitely unique.

B.B. was the commentator for this event. His famous phrase that evening was, "Posh, child!"

Clarence models a swimsuit, but all the makeovers in the world couldn't turn this hunk into a woman.

Garretta, the African beauty queen changed his role as a man to a woman. He possesses all the beauty of royalty.

These students proved that "Beauty is in the eyes of the beholder!"
RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK
March 6-8, 1989

The Right Reverend Richard Oliver Bass, Sr., the presiding Bishop of the Fifth Episcopal District, Christian Methodist Episcopal, served as the visiting preacher for the College's observance of Religious Emphasis Week, March 6-8, 1989.

During his visit to campus, Bishop Bass preached three very challenging and inspiring sermons, held private conferences with those desiring such and participated in the peer support session held in Graves Hall.

Bishop Bass visit to the campus was coordinated through Dean Marvin Thomas.

Bishop Isaac Lane, Founder of the College, was born a slave in Madison County on March 3, 1834.

When he was twenty years of age, he professed a belief in the Lord Jesus Christ. At twenty-two, he was inspired to exhort the Gospel. A fine distinction was made between those who exorted and those who preached.

Reverend Lane began a ministry that was to last more than eighty years. During this period, historians cannot estimate the number of the churches that he built. What stands, in addition to his matchless church expansion program, is the college upon a hill in East Jackson that began as the C.M.E. High School. A charter was obtained from the state and the name was changed to Lane Institute.

In 1877, during the Presidency of the Reverend T.F. Saunders, Lane Institute developed to the status of a college.

When Bishop died on December 5, 1937, he was said to have been the oldest living bishop in the nation.

FOUNDEERS DAY
1882-1989

Dr. Otis Floyd
Guest Speaker

Alice sings a song of praise

Lane College Founder's Day 1882-1989

Lane College Concert Choir
Beepers blow their horns to tell students, "Get Ready to Make It!" Beepers are a part of the Black Executives Exchange Program (BEEP). They visited Lane College on March 13 and 14. The theme of the visit was "Planning for Success: Getting Ready to Make It!"

The Beep visiting professors spoke with students, faculty, and staff. They talked about job search, resume writing, and interviewing skills. The visit also included classroom visitations where the Beeper's talked informally with students. As part of the program a talk back session was held in the dorms. In the women's dorm, the topic was "The African-American Female in the Work Place." In the men's dorm, the topic was "The African-American Male in the Work Place." The Black Executive Exchange Program is a worth while endeavor. It gives the students the opportunity to shine before executives. It also gives them an early jump into the job market.
PILGRIMAGE TO GRAVE OF FOUNDER
"HEALTH FOR ALL: PASS IT ALONG, A FOCUS ON WELLNESS."

The purpose of Human Development Center Day is to expose the various kinds of services rendered by the Counseling Center and increase awareness on contemporary issues that affect the college community. Last year’s focus was on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

The State of Tennessee Higher Education Commission, along with the World Health Organization, Pan American Health Organization, and the American Association for World Health have designated April 7, 1999 as World History Day. This day called attention to the importance of maintaining personal, physical and mental health. Therefore, we chose this year to combine both Human Development Center and World Health Day in recognition of the theme “Health for All: Pass it Along, A Focus on Wellness.”

The Human Development Center invited professionals from the community as guest speakers for the seminars. The seminars were scheduled at various times throughout the morning. They were open to everyone. An assembly took place during lunch in the cafeteria. A special menu was prepared in honor of World Health Day. The day closed with a Campus Walk-A-Thon.
S.G.A. PRESIDENT

VALARIE WILLIAMS

NINETEEN

EIGHTY-NINE

HOMECOMING
Leading Up To The Grand Finale

Here Miss Lane College, Tonya Stewart, and her escort, Ricky Jackson, wait very patiently for the Homecoming parade to get underway.

One of the participating bands in the parade shows their enthusiasm with extreme loudness.

The Lane College Marching Band marches with excellence while leading the Homecoming parade.

HOMECOMING

It takes plenty of time, perfection, and dedication to complete the activities for the Homecoming week of the Lane College Dragons. The preparation for the Grand Finale of the Dragons was a long and tedious process. The campus was in a true uproar the whole time. The student body also expressed true gratitude in helping prepare for this occasion. As the week progressed, the roaring audiences and crowds were a show in itself. Yet at the close of this glorious week, it was said to be all worthwhile.

For me this week was truly a joyous occasion. I enjoyed every minute of it, from the beginning to the end. I wish this week never had to end. But I can always rest assure that Homecoming will come again.

At the Coronation: Mr. Homecoming, Tyronne Gainer, looks to Miss Homecoming, Joyce Robertson, before taking those final steps to becoming King and Queen.

The crowd waits anxiously for the Dragons to make the points that will win the game.

The band stands at attention waiting to execute the next moves.
DAYS OF CELEBRATION

Preparation for homecoming was a very long and tedious task. There was constant practice and motivation from everyone. Alumni came from all over to take part in the grand celebration.
PARADE OF STARS

Everyone takes part in the Lane College Homecoming Celebration, including the Mayor of Jackson.

The King and his Queen give a royal greeting.

Look at those legs!!!
I'm so happy.
Keith and Brenda take a joy ride.

Future Lankas lends a helping hand to the Marching Band.
Jackson Junior High School Band shows support to the college.
MR. AND MISS HOMECOMING

TYRONE GARNER AND JOYCE ROBERTSON

MISS HOMECOMING ALTERNATES

1st Alternate
Des Hart and Vincent Averyson (escort)

2nd Alternate
Angela White and Ari Bolton (escort)

3rd Alternate
Vivian Johnson and Kenneth Holly (escort)